Over 300 guests gathered at Belle Herbe Farm in Grand Prix Village on January 22 to support the second annual 'Jump for a Just World' Fundraiser. The event raised almost $100,000 after expenses for JustWorld International, a not-for-profit, humanitarian organization founded to prepare and empower students to become visionary leaders and work for social justice by assisting orphans and underprivileged children.

Hosted by Jessica Newman, 29, who gave up her own grand prix riding career in order to concentrate her efforts on JustWorld International, the fundraiser saw guests enjoy cocktails, dinner by Ken Rose Catering, a live auction, and the antics of 'The Flying Frenchman', a trio of brothers who jump actual grand prix fences – on foot! Making the spectacle even more thrilling for on-lookers was that the brothers lost more and more clothing as the fences got higher and higher!

Guests included many famous faces from the show jumping community, as well as JustWorld Rider Representatives Kevin Babington, Angela Covert, Godignon who came from France especially for the event, Titi Mills, Ray Texel and several young rider and junior rider representatives. Even the Mayor of Wellington, Tom Wenham, and his wife, Regis, turned out to support JustWorld International.
